Tax-Free Weekend is Coming

It's hard to believe, but summer is wrapping up, and in a few weeks, your children will be back in school.

Save some money on those inevitable back-to-school purchases by shopping during tax-free weekend. This year, the holiday falls on August 21-23. School supplies (paper, pens, pencils, crayons, etc.) are included in the tax exemption, in addition to clothing, footwear, and backpacks priced under $100. To learn more about the tax-free weekend and what items are exempt from sales tax, call 800/252-5555.

SPOTLIGHT ON Mrs. Kathy Mitchell

She and her husband, David, have been proud residents of the Salado Falls Community for more than 18 months and thoroughly enjoy their neighborhood. She has one son and three adorable grandchildren. Kathy is very active at the Greater Good News Missionary Baptist Church, and she is "our" community activist. Kathy recently retired because of cancer, but she says, "By the grace of God I'm a survivor! Cancer can change your life in many ways. If you follow the directions of doctors, and keep a strong will, you will make it through the chemotherapy and radiation therapy with flying colors." Her favorite scripture is "I can do all things through Christ which strengthens me...". Kathy attributes her strong belief in prayer and her steadfast faith as the main ingredients to her survival story. The experience has become her testimony of God's grace.

San Antonio Food Bank Offers Food Fairs Around Town

The San Antonio Food Bank partners with more than 350 human service agencies to help feed hungry people throughout sixteen counties in Southwest Texas. One of the many ways they directly distribute is through Food Bank Food Fairs, in which they provide a mass distribution of food and outreach materials to qualified families. To find out if you qualify for the Food Fair program, and when and where the next one will take place, call 210/337-3663 and ask about "Food Fairs."

Hello Salado Falls Residents,

Hello Salado Falls Residents! Well it's almost that time of year... BACK TO SCHOOL for children and the return of full-time schedules for parents. Enjoy the rest of your summer before the numerous activities and events begin again. To lighten the burden of back-to-school expenses, we will host a "School Supply Extravaganza" this month. I am in need of volunteers to make this event worthwhile for our Salado Falls families. We will also begin preparations for our National Night Out event, which is October 6th. Please call Sue in Resident Services at 210/227-3914 to sign up or volunteer for these upcoming events!
